

This World Investor Week, here are a few tips to help you stay safe and secure online.

Does the Social Media account have a verified Badge? Check that all official accounts carry a blue or gray checkmark next to the account name.

Does the name sound dodgy? Fraudulent accounts often have inconsistencies in the name or profile, so be vigilant while scrutinizing.

Never share personal information: Official accounts never ask for personal information such as passwords, OTPs, credit card numbers, etc.

Ensure that your phone/computer software is up to date and so is your anti virus software to keep you safe while browsing.

Never click links from unknown senders, they could lead to fraudulent websites or download software that may compromise your personal information.

Never respond to messages/emails that claim “You have won a prize”, if you have indeed entered a contest, check with the organizers.

Always keep your devices secured with complex passwords, fingerprint lock or biometrics (face ID) if possible to safeguard your personal information.

Never use someone else’s device to access your financial or personal information, emails, etc. to remain safe at all times.
