Financials: Higher earnings predictability in banks and financialization drive our weights

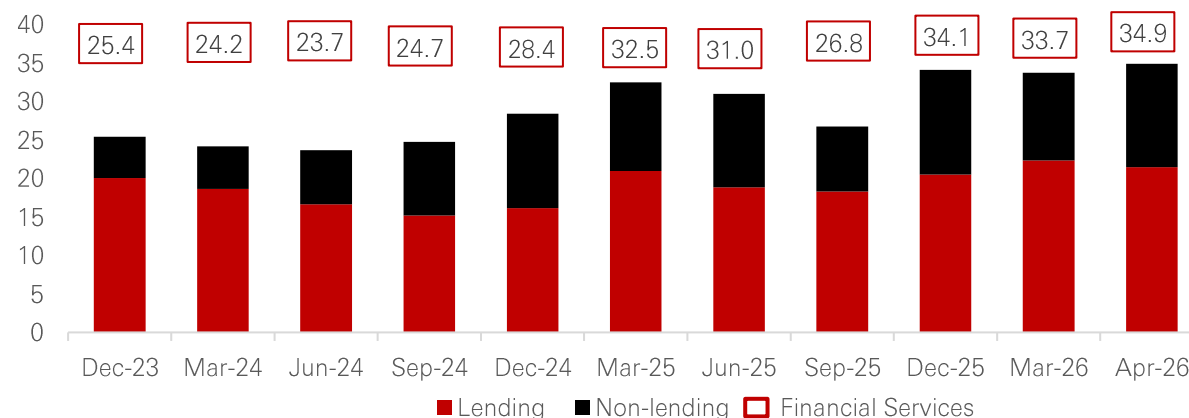

▪ Lending

- Repo and CRR cut, easing of risk weights and other norms, increasing system liquidity, along with consumption boost has started to drive credit growth
- Asset quality remain benign (barring micro finance segment) with reasonable valuations
- Exposure primarily through Large Banks and NBFCs with visibility of healthy growth along with stable asset quality.

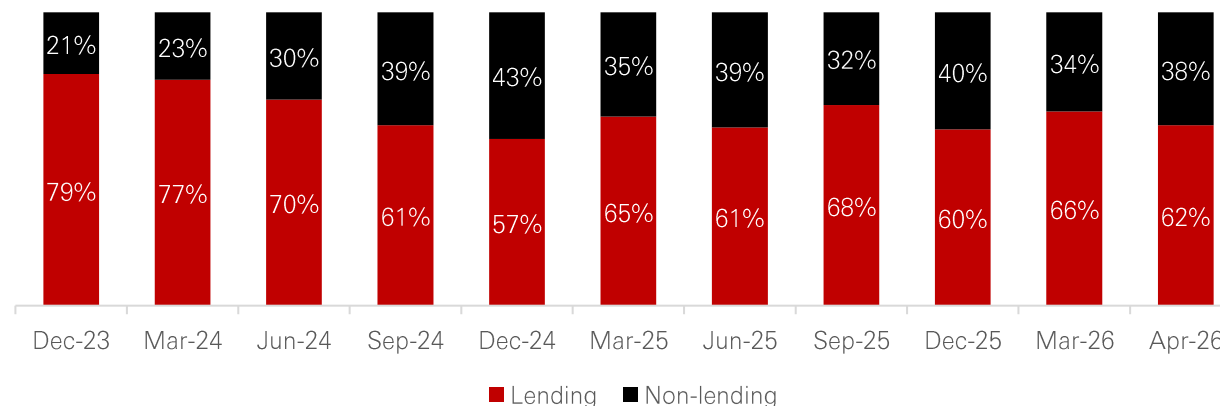

▪ Non-lending

- Financialization of savings is a medium-term theme and will continue to play in India over next several years
- AMC, Exchanges and select Stockbrokers and Intermediaries will be biggest beneficiaries and our portfolio has exposure to some of these Mid and Small cap companies.
- The non-life insurance industry penetration remains low and remains a medium to long term investment beneficiary. Regulatory interventions in some industries like Health insurance remains a short-term headwind and not a structural issue.

Industrials: Remain selective with exposure to Defense and Power T&D

- Overall capex growth is expected to grow in-line with nominal GDP in FY27
 - Centre FY26YTD capex has normalized in line with our expectations
 - Risk to State capex growth
 - Private capex is picking up and will continue to drive growth
- Expect select segments in capex to do well
 - Aerospace & Defense
 - Power (especially T&D)
 - Industrial
- Reduced exposure in Road construction and other EPC companies on muted government capex.
- Geo-political concerns will continue to drive defense budget as a percentage of GDP higher
- Power consumption will continue to increase driven by rising demand for appliances, AI, data centers, etc. Weight reduction is due to reduced exposure in power developers, while exposure to T&D players continue.

Consumer Discretionary: Aspiration, convenience and higher incomes to drive category

- Consumer basket is shifting from staples to discretionary consumption. External geopolitical shocks and higher commodity prices has resulted in weight reduction in 2026 for the segment.
- Consumption seeing nudge from the government
 - GST rationalization (~Rs 2.2 tn)
 - Income tax relief (~Rs 1 tn)
 - Social welfare schemes (~ Rs 2 tn)
 - Pay hike in 8th pay commission in 2027 (~Rs 4 tn)
 - Total stimulus of ~Rs 9.2 tn (2.5% of GDP)
- Like multiple themes within the sector
 - Changing customer behavior, convenience and premiumization is driving Retail. Prefer exposure through platform companies over brick-and-mortar.
 - Increased fuel and air ticket costs coupled with gas issues may impact Travel theme in the short-term resulting in reduced weights.
 - Household appliances demand likely to increase, however, seasonality issues influences weightages
- Select exposure in Jewelry and Ceramics/ laminates

Market cap classification

HSBC Business Cycles Fund

The changes in market cap allocation happens due to SEBI's semi-annual revision of market capitalization rather than any active increase in allocation. This normalizes over the next 2-3 months post the semi-annual revision.

Our small cap exposure has come down from its peak in 4Q24 driven by slowdown in government capex growth. We have reduced exposure to some of the small cap companies in Capital Goods / Infrastructure sector in 2025.

Market Cap (%)	April 2025	March 2026	April 2026
