

Retire from work, not from life

#RetireToMore

with an SIP

As a father, retirement means spending more time with your loved ones. It's about enjoying the freedom to do the things you've always wanted. But the best laid plans begin with a rock-solid financial plan from today. If you're a dad, then these tips could help you or your father too.

Plan for retirement

The sooner you begin investing, the longer your money gets to grow. Get time on your side and start investing today.

Aim to beat inflation

Rising prices, increasing healthcare and daily expenses can put a strain on your budget. Equity-based mutual funds aim to help you beat inflation over the long term.

Be prepared always

Start an emergency fund to take care of any unplanned emergencies. Ensure you have adequate life and medical insurance too.

Regular top-ups help

An SIP Top-Up is a tool to help you increase your SIP amount periodically based on your investment capability to help you reach your goal amount faster.

Happy Father's Day!
