

Plan your Dream Team for your investments.

It takes Teamwork to win!

A good team is a balanced mix of batsmen, bowlers and fielders. With your portfolio too, diversification harnesses the various strengths of asset classes and themes to smooth out market volatility and build wealth over time.

Powerplay changes the game

Strategic field placements can make all the difference. And with strategic allocation, you can find opportunities across asset classes allowing you to capture growth potential during different market phases.

One good innings doesn't win the match

A good team makes the most of both innings – batting and fielding. With your investments too, investing is as important as rebalancing your portfolio periodically to stay within your risk profile parameters.

The right hit needs perfect timing

That comes with expertise. And it's the same with trying to time the markets. Very few get it right and most end up missing out on the best days of the market. Instead, stay invested and aim to reap the benefits of time.
